Tun railway in Hawaii is progressing favorably. Since work was commenced. a few weeks ago, two miles have been graded - the two worst miles, passing through a country full of boulders and rocks, necessitating constant blasting. The road has now reached a better country, more easy to work in, and will probably be curried on three times as fast. There are now employed one hundred Chinamen and twenty foreigners. The Chinese are reported as working well, and Mr. Wilder expresses himself as being thoroughly satisfied with them; they are not under contract to him; none have run away or have attempted to run. This is a better report than is given by the planters in Hawaii, who, as our readers will see by a letter which we publish to-day, are again complaining of their men running away Somethin and their mability to get them buck again. The railway camp has been now removed two miles further along the coast. The party live partly in tents, partly in buts. There are eight men to a tent. Considerable difficulty has to be oversome in getting supplies of water. This has all to be brought from Honolulu by the Libridia. she landing it on the coast opposite the position of the camp. All provisions have to be packed over on nules from Mahuto be packed over on mules from Mahnhum. A large store house 80 by 40 has been completed, and also two wharves 18 by 80, all at Mahnkona. Work will be pushed on as ragidly as possible, so that on or about September 1st, when the rails are expected to arrive per folions, everything may be ready, and the working party will go shead at the rate of a quarter of a mile a day. Mr. Wilder has everyhope, if all the vessels which he depends upon connect properly, of having everything finished as far as Ninin station (Judge Hart's plantation), Kohala, by April 1st, 1882. The question will then

In the great rush for men that there was about a year or so ago, some people made no very strict inquiry as to where a man came from. The great thing was, did he want to ship! If so, ship him at once, and let any one to whom he might have belonged come and hunt him up afterwards. Thus a man got into the habit of passing from one plantation to another, swinding perhaps two or three in his course, and largely assisted in his nefarous schemes by lack of due circumspection in his various employers.

We presume it is needless or hopeless to = make any remark upon the advance sys-tem, which is really at the root of the evil; that has been talked and written against so much, and yet it is so firmly rooted among the institutions of the country that it seems hopeless to think that it will ever be eradicated. Yet the system is utterly bad and demoralizing. We hope to hear on this matter from our planter in our columns.

In the Sedney Mousing Recold we see that the address presented to Mr. Henry Ketten in March last, has been handsomely illuminated, ornamente and bound and is to be forwarded to Batavix.

We notice in last Saturday's imme that the describer upon a certain matter which came from our pan does not "appreciate such action; I sic as that either of a journalist or a gentleman." For a moment we were appatied, had we really committed some dispraceful act of which we should be ashamed for the rest of our lives? Knowing the fullihility of our contemporary's judgment, we finally came to the conclusion that after all he might once again have been mistiaken, and we ventured to meet our friends who certainly had not been imbued with our boother Editor's opinion. There is a certain kind of politics which salves its conscience whenever it makes a remark sanch as our contemporary has dozes, by saying. "Oh I you know that is all in the way of newspaper or political talk, every one takes it at its wine."

And so every one does and at the same time takes a similar value of the newspaper or politician who makes no of such phrases. Advertiser upon a certain matter which came
